

MORRIS BOOMED FOR GOVERNOR AS RESULT OF SPLIT

Progressive Leaders See Political Suicide of Governor in Break with Senator

MORRIS HOPE OF THE PARTY

La Crosse Man Will Be Urged to Make Race for Governorship This Fall

HIS STRENGTH IS APPARENT

Withdrew from Race Two Years Ago Only to Preserve Harmony in Party

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 19.—(Special.)—That Governor F. E. McGovern committed political suicide when he became a candidate for temporary chairman of the national convention in opposition to the wishes of La Follette, is the declaration here of progressive republicans prominent in his campaign for governor two years ago. That when he seeks renomination he will have as his opponent a man whose progressivism and loyalty to La Follette has never been doubted is another assertion.

Preserves Harmony
The man who will probably defeat McGovern is Lieutenant Governor Thomas Morris, who was the choice of Senator La Follette for gubernatorial honors two years ago. Mr. Morris withdrew from the race at that time to preserve peace in the factional ranks after it became apparent that McGovern was determined to run regardless of the possibilities of plunging the progressive ship on the rocks of defeat.

Boom in Madison
MADISON, Wis., June 19.—(Special.)—Assuming that Governor McGovern and Senator La Follette have come to the parting of the ways as a result of yesterday's split in the convention, friends of the senator are talking today of Lieutenant Governor Thomas Morris, of La Crosse, as a candidate for governor. Opinion on the wisdom of the governor's course, however, is divided, but the senator's warmest friends here are taking sides against McGovern, and they say he has sounded his own political death knell.

Boom Follows Bolt

In spite of the fact an army of "Gloomers" invaded the progressive republican camp in La Crosse yesterday, when it became known that the split between La Follette and McGovern in the Chicago convention yesterday had probably made an irreparable breach in the ranks of the party in this state, there is one "Joy" left to comfort the politically wounded. This "Joy" exists in the state wide boom for Lieutenant Governor Thomas Morris, of La Crosse, which was immediately put under way by the progressive leaders of the state as soon as the news of McGovern's bolt had been confirmed.

That La Follette had acted entirely within his rights when he demanded that McGovern withdraw as temporary chairman of the convention is conceded by all. McGovern as a member of the delegation was elected.

WEATHER

For La Crosse and vicinity: Fair tonight and Thursday; not much change in temperature.

For Wisconsin: Cloudy tonight; Thursday fair.

For Minnesota and Iowa: Fair tonight and Thursday.

Weather Conditions

The weather is cloudy this morning in the upper Mississippi valley and lake region, with rain at Madison, Dubuque and Milwaukee. Rain has also occurred from the west gulf coast, northeastward through the Tennessee and lower Ohio valleys to the middle Atlantic coast, and continues at a few stations this morning. Clear weather prevails throughout the west, with higher temperature in the northern states from the Pacific coast to Wisconsin and in the Canadian northwest; it is cooler in the middle and north Atlantic states.

Pressure continues highest from the Rocky mountain region to the Mississippi river.

It is moderately low in the lake region and Atlantic states and in the southwest.

Fair weather will prevail in this section tonight and Thursday with slight change in temperature.

PLAYGROUND WORK AID TO MOTHERS

School Children Flock to Care of Instructors at City Parks; Games Are Introduced

GIRLS ARE NOT SLIGHTED

Miss Clement Appointed to Take Charge of Work of Girls; Directors Broad-en Amusements

The over-burdened mother will not have to take up the work of keeping the mischievous children out of trouble during the present school vacation. Under the playground system which has been installed, the children are cared for by the instructors and instead of tying Willie to the bed post, threatening to use the parental slipper or still worse of sending him to bed without supper, the mother merely sends the "kids" to the playground.

There under the direction of the instructors, each child is given the amusements which he loves most and which will prove the most beneficial in later years. The strictest discipline is always in force and under the care which is taken by the directors, all are safe from the harm to which children are often subject.

Mother Relieved
Not only is the mother, whose family worries are such that she is not able to give constant attention to the children, relieved of the added burden which the termination of school thrusts upon her, but the child is given the proper environment which can not but have a good result.

A male director has been placed in charge of each of the city playgrounds and for the benefit of the girls, Miss Clement of the Y. W. C. A., has been engaged to teach games and take charge of the work which is the most interesting to them. The playgrounds opened Monday and a large number of people took advantage of the opportunity thus afforded but it is believed that within the next two weeks, the number of children participating in the amusements of the playgrounds will be doubled.

Schedule
On each week day the grounds are opened from 2 to 5:30 in the afternoon and from 7 to 9 in the evening. Miss Clement's schedule is as follows:
Monday and Thursday afternoons, Copeland park; Tuesday and Friday afternoon, Adams street playground; Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, 12th street playground.

OUTCASTS SIGN UP CATCHER R. WALSH

R. Walsh, the big catcher who did the backstopping for the Rochester Red Sox for some time, has been signed up by the Outcasts, and he did the receiving for them for the first time yesterday. Walsh did some good work while here with the Red Sox recently, as he seems to have a good peg to the bases, while he also did well with the stick, clouting out four swats in one of the games here. Brown is still with the club, and it is not known whether he will be released or not, but he may be retained.

Joe Safford, well known as a former outfielder for the Outcasts, has been signed up by the Aurora club of the W.-I. league, and he played his first game with that team yesterday.

CHILD'S PLAY IS CAUSE OF BLAZE

Damage to the amount of $600 resulted from a fire in the garage of Dr. Edward Evans, 121 South Thirtieth street, yesterday. The fire is thought to have been caused by the lighting of matches by a child of Dr. Evans, who was playing in the garage. Oil upon the floor caused the fire to spread rapidly.

LAS VEGAS, N. M., June 19.—Jack Curley was extremely peeved today when asked to discuss the Albuquerque report that McDonald was determined to stop the Johnson-Plynn fight if he could possibly do so under the law. Curley declared the report was absurd and was started by persons who had been denied complimentary tickets and wished to injure the prospects of the bout.

RIOT IN CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, O., June 19.—A riot call for police at 10:10 a. m. today assembled several hundred patrolmen in the vicinity of Superior avenue and 26th street, where one policeman was shot dead and several rioters were injured.

LA CROSSE WOMAN DIES IN CHICAGO

Mrs. Paulina Rozmarynowska Called at Home of Her Daughter After Year's Illness

Mrs. Paulina Rozmarynowska, aged 62, died of acute gastritis at the home of her daughter in Chicago last night after an illness of about a year's duration.

Mrs. Rozmarynowska was born in Germany November 1, 1848. She was married in Germany and came to America in 1882, coming to La Crosse, where she has resided ever since then. Three weeks ago she went to Chicago, where her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Renton, lives, and it was there that she died.

Mrs. Rozmarynowska is survived by her husband, four daughters, Mrs. Herbert Renton of Chicago, Mrs. Walter Holmes of Wheeling, Wis., Miss Fannie Ross of Chicago, and Mrs. Robert Fritz of La Crosse, and three sons, Gus of Columbus, Ohio, Steve, who is in the infantry in the Philippine Islands, and Joseph of La Crosse.

The funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Friday morning from the Holy Cross church, with Rev. Wozny officiating at the services. Burial will be made in the Catholic cemetery.

EVELYN THAW IS SNUBBED BY FAMILY

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 19.—Evelyn Nesbitt Thaw was snubbed today by her husband, Harry K. Thaw, and members of the Thaw family, when she appeared in the supreme court to testify against Thaw in his attempt to gain freedom from Matteawan asylum.

Thaw was examined at great length by W. T. Jerome, who twice prosecuted him for the murder of White. It was now the first time Thaw had seen his wife since 1909, and neither he, his mother nor his two sisters paid any attention to her.

CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Kilian, 1407 Ferry street, celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of their marriage last night. About forty guests were present, including Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kitowski, of Stevens Point. Musical selections were rendered by Professors Marston, Rawlinson and Bahrert.

M'GOORTY VS. MOHA

THIRTEEN MEN CAUGHT IN MINE

Blast Caves In Shaft and Catches Miners; Only One of Them Is Rescued

TRINIDAD, Col., June 19.—An explosion in the Hastings mine of the Victor-American Fuel company early today entombed thirteen men. At 8 o'clock one man had been rescued alive, and it was feared that all the others were dead. Rescuers are endeavoring to penetrate the debris and reach those entombed. It is not known what caused the explosion.

The miners are entombed 4,500 feet from the mouth of the tunnel. The explosion is believed to have been caused by a "windy shot" which set off a pocket of gas and dust. So terrific was the blast that it is believed the men in the shaft must have been instantly killed or suffocated soon afterward.

George Papes, a Greek, the only man to escape, is probably fatally burned. He was unable to tell anything about the disaster and is expected to die.

DEBATE ON THE CONTESTS

Roosevelt Men Struggling to Have Their Temporary Roll Adopted Today

CHICAGO, June 19.—Whether it was to be a fight to a finish between the progressives and conservatives, or whether it was to be a bolt in the interests of the Roosevelt presidential candidacy, was the problem confronting the republican national convention when Chairman Root called the second day's session to order. The men who declared they did not care who was nominated, so long as progressive principles were adhered to favored fighting to the end. The professional politicians who wanted to strengthen their own leadership in states where progressivism is new and popular, were loudly counseling bolt. Other men, notably Senator Borah, were insisting that what should be done was to fight to the bitter end, and if beaten, take their medicine, but keep on fighting.

More Police
The police guard both inside and outside of the Coliseum today was increased. There were 500 uniformed men on hand and at least that number of plain clothes officers. They had little to do, however, during the early hours.

At 10:10 o'clock less than one hour before the time set for the convention to get together there were only 100 people in the galleries. None of the big leaders had put in an appearance and the band in the top gallery was discoursing lazy mournful music that seemed to have a depressing effect on the few that were on the scene.

Among the early arrivals were a dozen of the fashionable set from this city and women members of the local Chicago committees. Gowned in modest attire, they were the object of much interest to the few delegates and spectators as they scrutinized the auditorium through their longnettes.

At 10:30 a. m., less than 100 delegates were in their seats. At that hour conferences were in progress between the leaders of both the Roosevelt and the Taft factions in their headquarters. No chances were being taken. Every possible motion or point of order that might aid their fight was being looked up by the Roosevelt parliamentarians. Their opponents, headed by former Congressman James Watson of Indiana, were coaching up on decisions and precedents to combat them. Watson.

THE MAN THEY CHEERED Governor of Missouri for Whom Convention Went Wild

TAFTITES HOPE T. R. WILL BOLT

Believe President Stands Better Show of Election if Roosevelt Splits the Party

ADMINISTRATION CHEERED

New Confidence and Vigor Given Taft Forces by Yesterday's Victory

CHICAGO, June 19.—That they expect, and hope that Colonel Theodore Roosevelt's influence on his delegates will result in their bolting or attempting the organization of a second convention on the Coliseum floor, was admitted by the uncompromising Taft leaders just before the convention resumed its session today. They carefully counted noses on the Roosevelt demand put forth through Hadley of Missouri, that the seated Taft contested delegates be eliminated. They declared that they had against this proposition more votes than were cast for Senator Root yesterday, and they will welcome a walk out by the Roosevelt field force because they declare positively such a move would purge the party of populism, socialism and all other issues.

T. R. Not Regular

Taft leaders stated that the regular republican convention came into being with the election of Senator Elihu Root as temporary chairman and even though the Roosevelt men put a tick into the field, they cannot have it labeled regular by claiming that the candidate named by the Root convention is fraudulently tainted. By mandamus proceedings brought in every state, the anti-Roosevelt men will, if necessary, they say, force the recognition of their ticket as the regular republican ticket and they will, they say, prevent the recognized Roosevelt electors in such states as Missouri, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, voting for anyone but the candidate bearing the trademark of republican regularity.

Taft Men Encouraged

"We have them licked, and we will make them take their medicine," was the last word of Congressman McKinley to his floor managers as he entered the convention hall. This attitude was taken by Secretary Hilley and where up to Monday night state of semi-panic prevailed among the Taft men, today they were an adamant wall against the Roosevelt forces. They appeared to be satisfied after yesterday that Roosevelt was entirely eliminated as a formidable candidate and were willing to make concessions to prevent certain well known progressives from getting outside of the party breastworks.

HE'S IN BAD, SAYS ROGERS

Committeeman Says Head of State Has Yet to Reckon with Fighting Bob

DELEGATION WILL BE SOLID

Walter Houser Says the Badger Clan Will Stick with La Follette Despite Row

(By A. M. Brayton.)

COLISEUM, Chicago, June 19.—With Henry C. Cochems, outside the breastworks and hurling defiance at Senator La Follette and with Governor McGovern and his minority within the fortifications determined to be "good" only to the letter of their instructions, the efforts of leaders to discount the fight precipitated within the progressive organization makes no serious impression. Could McGovern evade responsibility for the resignation of Cochems from the delegation a harmony poulitoe might "draw the soreness," but he can't and probably will not try, for the governor has fighting instincts.

Insurgents' Stand
The stand of the insurgent delegates is fully explained in the opening sentence of Cochems' public statement:

"The policy adopted by the Wisconsin delegation was the result of a selfish, hysterical plan to beat Colonel Roosevelt."

The "policy" referred to was the refusal of the caucus, by a majority vote to present McGovern's name for the reason that to do so would give Roosevelt a chance to elect him, claim the victory and prevent a deadlock, thus defeating the only chance of La Follette.

Cochems assumes he was sent to Chicago to beat Taft; Houser asserts the delegates were sent to Chicago to nominate La Follette. The instructions are to that effect.

It is openly charged that the bolt of McGovern and Cochems was preconcerted with Roosevelt. It is said Roosevelt visited McGovern at the Grand Pacific hotel and assured him of his election, that McGovern, thinking the cards were stacked for him, burned his bridges. He left the convention before the vote was counted and it is assumed his defeat was a shocking surprise to him.

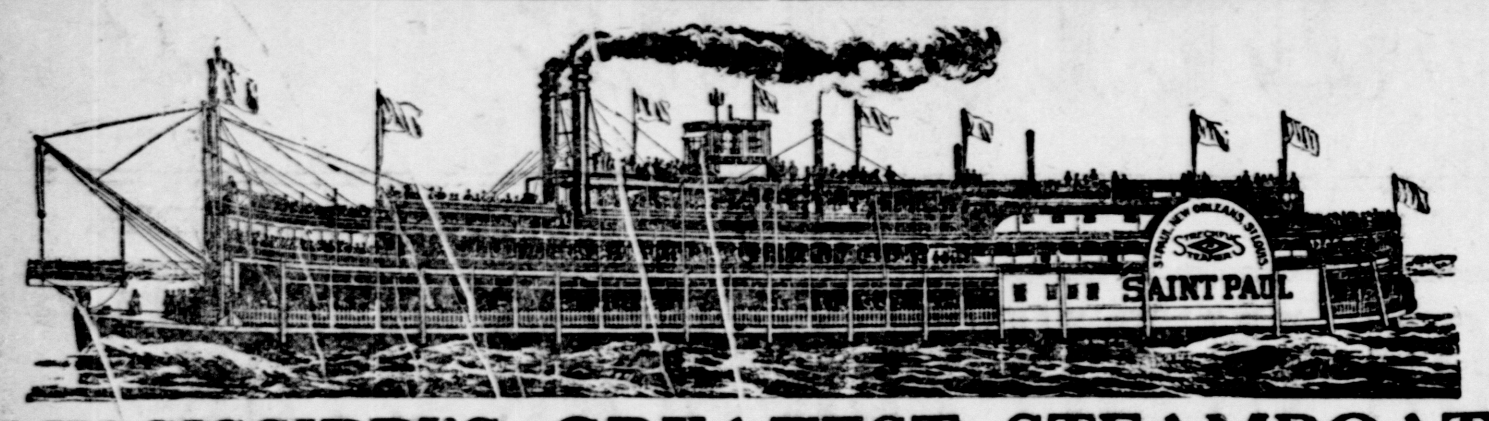

The claim of collusion between McGovern and Roosevelt is further based on this assertion:

Cochems' Act Surprise

That the Wisconsin men were in caucus until 11:30; that they then hastened to the Coliseum in a body; that they communicated with none until Cochems arose to nominate McGovern; that Cochems' act was a complete surprise to the majority of the delegation who thought the caucus had settled the matter, and that in spite of the Roosevelt leaders in a dozen other delegations followed each other with machine-like precision in delivering apparently prepared speeches seconding McGovern's nomination. Evidently they know all about it and were prepared.

Cochems' assumption of fairness in having resigned is laughed at. It is pointed out that had he been moved by ethical consideration he would have resigned immediately after he was voted out in the caucus, instead of waiting to first fire the shot which may have killed La Follette's chances.

MISSISSIPPI'S GREATEST STEAMBOAT

The STEAMER ST. Paul of the Streckfus Line, will take her first excursion out of here on June 23, going to Winona at 9 a. m., and returning at 6:30 p. m. for a moonlight 8 to 11:30.

This is a tremendous five-deck sidewheeler—the largest boat on the Mississippi, being 300 feet long and 75 feet wide; her two side wheels are 30 feet in diameter.

The St. Paul carries 2,600 passengers, 1,100 more than any other boat is permitted to take, except the "Sidney," also of the Streckfus Line, which has a capacity of 2,000.

No other boat on the Mississippi carries more than 1,500 passengers. Every passenger carrying steamer must have a Government License posted prominently in the Main Cabin showing the number permitted.

Those of us accustomed to the restricted limits of the average sternwheel steamboat will be agreeably surprised at the comfortable spaciousness of this big five-deck sidewheeler.

Over 3,000 chairs are used in order to have more than are needed on each deck; soda fountains and restaurants are on both lower decks.

The Main Cabin, cooled by eighteen electric fans, has a hardwood floor 212 feet long, and is illuminated by three lines of electric lights along its entire length.

The forward promenade decks are seventy-five feet wide; 1,000 persons may be comfortably seated on any one of the three main decks. Seven times around the outer rail on promenade deck measures a mile.

A splendid orchestra is carried on all trips, cool, filtered water is supplied in abundance throughout the Steamer without charge. Several hours may be interestingly spent in a tour of inspection over this splendid craft. The St. Paul will leave at 9 o'clock in the morning. Fare 50c; children 25c.

SPECIAL SESSION BROUGHT TO CLOSE

ST. PAUL, June 19.—Fifty-two bills and joint resolutions were introduced in the legislature during the two weeks of the extra session. Of this number thirty-seven were offered in the house and fifteen in the senate. The majority of these fell by the wayside or were incorporated in other bills that were afterwards passed.

The corrupt practices and the statewide primary bills as finally enacted were both senate measures with house amendments attached. The gross earnings and several bills of minor importance initiated in the house broke through the senate barrier of two-piece legislation and became laws.

T. R. SUPPORTERS IN LAST DITCH

Victory of Taft in Fight for Root Sets Roosevelt Men Much Back

ORGANIZATION IS BROKEN

Ex-President's Ranks Suffer from Indecision of Leaders in Battle Yesterday

CHICAGO, June 19.—When the republican national convention resumed its session at 11 o'clock today the Roosevelt forces were fighting in the last ditch. Outgeneralled all along the line in the opening session, their leaders faltering when a revolutionary program was actually faced, the progressives failed to present the united front they had counted on. The ninth hour switch from Borah to McGovern proved an error in judgment and instead of whipping the La Follette men into line with McGovern they had brought home to the convention the bitter feud between the Wisconsin senator and the Oyster Bay candidate.

But before Temporary Chairman Root's gavel fell calling today's session to order, a final attempt had been made to get the Roosevelt men solidly together again. The colonel himself had assured his leaders that they had gone so far now there could be no retractions and Hiram Johnson, the fighting governor of California had insisted that if they lost in the struggle to "purge" the temporary roll of the convention, they must organize their own convention and nominate their ticket. But prior to the assembling of the convention today the bolt took the very feeble. Some of the progressive leaders even put McGovern in the field against Root and voted for him, they became morally bound as party men, to abide by the result.

While the election of Senator Root is conceded to have been a Taft victory and concededly strengthens the conservative position as to the presidential nomination, it is not by any means thought to have settled the question of Taft's ultimate success.

But the possibility of the nomination of a dark horse was greater than it has been at any previous time during the convention.

Can't Win on First

The Taft leaders, talking privately, admit that Taft cannot get the full Root strength on the first ballot. How far he will fall short is problematical.

Eight Maryland delegates who voted for Root are under Roosevelt instructions and will vote for him on the first ballot. Seven Illinois delegates are in the same position. There are at least four or five scattered delegates who voted for Root who will vote for Roosevelt.

Assuming that there are twenty all told of those Roosevelt votes which are needed to give Root 558, Taft's vote on the first ballot will fall two short of the 540 necessary to nominate.

On the other hand, Hawaii cast its six votes against Root, but probably will throw them to Taft on the nomination vote. This would give Taft 544 or four more than needed.

While in a mix-up as complex as this almost anything is possible, it is generally conceded that about the least likely possibility is Roosevelt's nomination on the first ballot, if the delegates who make up the temporary roll are seated by the credentials committee.

Should there be no bolt and should the first ballot result in no nomination, the contest from that time forward will be anybody's fight.

TENDERNESS TO THE AGED

Those in Their Helpless Years Should Be Treated With Kind and Gentle Regard.

Nothing is more beautiful or Christ-like in the character of the young woman than a kind and gentle regard for the old. They whose failing steps are slowly descending the sunless slope of age have but one consolation as the years speed by them, and that is the tenderness and consideration of those on whose lives the beauties of the morning are breaking. Age is a season of physical infirmity, of mental retrospection, of shattered dreams and earthly disappointments. No more for the old is there a glimmer in the rolling stars, no more freshness in the spring, no more a triumph in the years. The thousand melodies of the present sound far off to their aged ears and their eyes whose tears fall on the graves of old affections. Treat them gently, for their travail and their sacrifice are yet the possessors not only of existence in the world in whose splendors ye exult, but also for the prosperity and happiness we thoughtlessly enjoy. Never mind if she or he be old and feeble and of humble garb—they look to you in their helpless years to aid with gentle courtesy their tottering steps. God's blessing will reward you if you do.—Catholic Universal

Thousands to Locate Here in Near Future; Progressive Men Go to Progressive Cities

"It pays to advertise," is the axiom upon which J. L. Utermoehl based an appeal for co-operation among the business men of this city in the boosting of La Crosse, in an address before the board of trade at a six o'clock dinner at the Masonic Temple last night.

"Show me your city and I will tell you the quality of your citizens," he said. "The American cities must come to a realization of the fact that they must spend more money on themselves. The city that can boast only of a low tax rate has no attraction for the man who wants a citizen. The progressive man is going to the progressive city to make his home and conduct his business."

"Systematic and continuous effort should be our watchword for the future, for today there is strong competition between cities for growth and prestige and rival cities are watching each other like hawks."

La Crosse Has Advantages

"A city has a product to sell just as certainly as the manufacturer has goods to sell. Make your town worth something and then let it be known by intelligent and well directed advertising. La Crosse has many advantages. Let our claims and advantages be thoroughly analyzed and then made known by setting them properly before interested men in an advertising way. Let us tell of our excellent advantages as a distributive point, our rich adjoining territory, our raw materials, our three great trunk lines of railway and the Mississippi river, which is bound to come to its own again. STOPPED THE CHILD'S CRIES

Sudden Philanthropy of Newsboy Put an End to Wails of the Youngster.

Nobody seemed to know what he was crying about, but it must have been something, for the youngster was running the entire gamut of infantile shrieks. He was a tow-headed, lace-collared little chap of four or five, down town on a shopping tour with his mother, a large, fashionably attired woman of the society type.

People along the street turned and looked at the waiting youngster, but it wasn't up to them to say anything and they just let him cry. The mother tried to hush him, but to no avail. Whatever it was that he was so lachrymous and worked up over had him right. Then strolled up a little newsboy—a lad probably nine or ten years of age, but not much larger than the five-year-old. The newsboy was just starting to eat a banana when he heard the shrill shrieks of the smaller kid. Whether as a joke or in a spirit of magnanimity he rushed up alongside of the astonished mother, placed the banana in her son's hand and says:

"Here, bo, eat that an' stop your yellin'."

And the unexpectedness of the gift did actually stop the noise and tears in about two seconds and a half.

(Fill in this line, mentioning Toasties and write plainly.)

Use of above form of answer is suggested, but not required.

We will buy 50 Post Toasties Jingles, acceptable for use in a Jingle Book, received during June, 1912, at $20.00 each.

Only the Jingles we pay for will be used, but no Jingles, whether purchased or not, will be returned.

The names and addresses of the writers of the 50 Jingles purchased in June, 1912, will be printed and mailed to each enquirer who sends us a 1c stamped and addressed envelope for return.

The Jingles will be judged honestly upon merit, so if you are a sensitive person and not a good sportsman don't try, for we have no time to "pet up" those whose Jingles are not accepted.

Fill in the missing line of the incomplete Jingle printed above, making the last line include the name "Post Toasties" or "Toasties," with correct rhyme and metre.

Or, write an original Post Toasties Jingle of not less than 4 lines, any one line of which must contain "Post Toasties" or "Toasties."

As many Jingles may be submitted as desired. No Jingle submitted in May, 1912, will be considered in this June, 1912, offer.

One can make this a pleasant form of entertainment, may make some extra money, and in addition become acquainted with

PEOPLE TIRED OF CAMPAIGN LYING

Every day the newspaper paragraphs grind out some new crack on the Ananias club. Charges of falsehood fill the headlines and put ginger into the speeches.

Do all these charges of mendacity signify that campaign lying is on the increase?

To get an answer let us ask the question what the voters think of the typical slam-whanging partisan speech that characterized the stump oratory of a former generation.

The typical political oratory to which we have become accustomed is purely that of the advocate, the hired attorney. It is a lawyer's business to present only his client's case. If there is a hole in the argument, it is not his business to show it to the court and jury.

This has been the political controversy of the past. There is no court on the bench to call the liars down. Judging from the arm swingers and platform stamper, all the good men are on our side, all the bad men on yours, and vice versa.

Few of our public men can be caught in a squarely false statement. The trouble is that the politician becomes so inflated with the lust of the game, that he can no more see a situation as a whole than a base runner can tell judicially whether he was put out at first.

This is an age of demand for business government. People are sick of political speeches that are full of half truths. They would like the orator to treat them as bank directors would treat the stockholders of the corporation.

They want facts rather than opinions. They want facts that are selected with the spirit of the scientific investigator, not with the spirit of the hired advocate. When facts exist that seem to controvert the theory of the speaker, they don't want those facts ignored. They want them taken up, given all due weight, and the bigger facts brought on that controvert and overpower them.

WHO IS PAYING THE FIDDLER AND HOW MUCH

When asked how much money Colonel Roosevelt's campaign has cost, George W. Perkins, of the steel trust, which with the harvester trust is accused of having already donated a million dollars to the colonel's fund, replied:

"I don't know, and I think people should quit talking so much about how much is being spent to nominate Colonel Roosevelt."

No matter whether the Roosevelt fund is large or small, honest or dishonest, its amount and source is a subject of concern to the public. Men do not give away large sums, ordinarily, unless some selfish motive impels them. We believe that in justice to the progressives to whom he is appealing for support Colonel Roosevelt should answer Senator La Follette's challenge and make public in detail the contributions to his campaign. The people are entitled to know now, before the nomination is made.

A man tired of paying alimony leaped into the Hudson river, which was the most important plunge he had taken since he plunged into the sea of matrimony.

Life is hardly going to be worth living when the mail-carrying aeroplanes begin dropping those heavy mail-order house catalogs on us.

The Mexican revolution seems to break out afresh just at the psychological moment when there is nothing else to put in the newspapers.

There should be a law passed making it a misdemeanor or crime for a presidential candidate to carry concealed adjectives.

At any rate there is some satisfaction in having been a presidential candidate. One can sell articles to the magazines.

A Slight Misunderstanding

Night was coming on, the storm was increasing and some of the deck fittings had already been swept overboard, when the captain decided to send up a distress signal. The rocket was already lit and about to ascend, when a solemn faced passenger stepped up.

"Cap'n," said he, "I'd be the last man on earth to cast a damper on any man's patriotism, but seems to me this here's no time for celebratin' and settin' off fireworks."—The Christian Herald.

Too True

The Rev. Dr. Aker in an address on generosity in New York said:

"A woman remarked to me the other day:

"Mrs. Blank is very shabby this spring. Mr. Blank adores the ground she walks on, yet he won't allow her enough to dress decently."

"Ah, madam," I replied, "it isn't always the dearest worshiper who puts the most money in the collection plate."—New York Tribune.

Getting a Fresh Start

"Well, well!" said the man who had wandered back to the old village. "So the Eagle house is still the Eagle house. No change after twenty years."

"There have been a few changes," responded the oldest inhabitant. "Since you've been gone the hotel has been respectively the Grand Central, the Grand Union, the Grand Junction, the Great Northern, the Great Southern, the Imperial, the Regal, the Empire, the Regent and the Mansion house. She's just starting around the circuit for the second time."—Boston Post.

There were times when McFee gloried in the fact that he was the father of nine children, even if they were on the lines of the proverbial human stepladder, but on the day when he was taking them out for a walk he felt chagrined.

He was walking along at a fairly good gait when he was halted by a policeman, who asked:

"I say, you, what you been doin'?"

"Nothing," replied McFee. "Why?"

"Well, what's the crowd following you for?"—Judge.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

My Shadow

I have a little shadow that goes in and out with me,
And what can be the use of him is more than I can see.
He is very, very like me from the heels up to the head;
And I see him jump before me when I jump into my bed.

The funniest thing about him is the way he likes to grow—
Not at all like proper children, which is always very slow;
For he sometimes shoots up taller, like an India rubber ball,
And he sometimes gets so little that there's none of him at all.

He hasn't got a notion of how children-dren ought to play,
And can only make a fool of me in every sort of way.
He stays so close beside me, he's a coward you can see;
I'd think it shame to stick to nurse as that shadow sticks to me.

One morning, very early, before the sun was up,
I rose and found the shining dew on every buttercup;
But my lazy little shadow, like an arrant sleepy head,
Held staid at home behind me and was fast asleep in bed.

Not to Do Anything Bad

"James," whispered the good woman, "there's a burglar in the parlor. He stumbled against the piano in the dark. I heard several of the keys struck." "All right," said James, "I'll go down." "Oh, James, you're not going to do anything rash?" "Certainly not; I'm going to help him. You don't suppose he can get that piano out of the house without assistance, do you?"

A Smart Rejoinder

At a dinner party an officer of the guards was placed with his back of the fire. He stood the heat for some time, but was at last obliged to ask for a fire screen. "A British soldier should always be able to stand fire," said the host, a pompous old squire, who thought everything belonging to him was perfection. "But not at his back, sir," was the witty response.

Not Bad

"Pat," said the Englishman who wanted some fun, "I will give you eighteen (eight) pence for a shilling." Pat thought for a moment, then, diving his hand in his trousers' pocket, produced the required shilling. At the same time the Englishman slipped eight pence into Pat's hand, saying: "Not bad, is it?" "No," replied Pat, "but the shilling is."

Parental Tactics

A worried parent is sometimes obliged to do something like this: "Pa, what is a transcendentalist?" "Have you chained up the dog, as I told you?" "Not yet, pa." "Well, do that, and when you come back I will tell you what a transcendentalist is." While Bobby was gone his astute parent dug the needed information out of a dictionary.

FALS 90 FEET BUT NOT INJURED

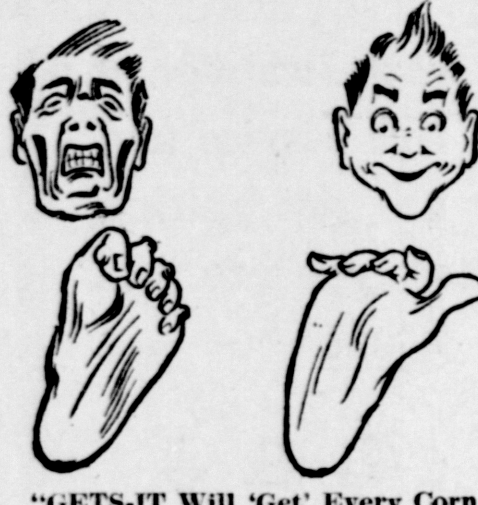

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 19. — To fall ninety feet from a housetop to the hard ground without sustaining so much as a fracture, was the miraculous escape Tuesday afternoon of 5 year old Florence Cianciollo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Romanio Cianciollo, 142 Detroit street. The child's only injuries were a few bruises.

Little Florence was playing with her mother on the roof of their home, when she suddenly toppled over the edge. The mother, frenzied with fear, hurried to where the child had fallen, picked her up in her arms and ran to the Emergency hospital.

The child was later taken to her home, apparently none the worse for her experience.

Tried GETS-IT, The New Corn Cure, Yet?

See How Easy it Drives Away Corns

"GETS-IT Will 'Get' Every Corn You've Got"

At last, a real does-what-it-says corn cure. Nothing like it has ever before been known.

Every man and woman who has corns, callouses, warts or bunions, ought to try "Gets-It" at once and see how marvelously it works. Quit shaving your corn with a razor. You may draw blood and cause blood poisoning.

"GETS-IT" is remarkable because it never irritates or turns the true flesh sore or raw. It can't. It is as safe as water. Stockings won't stick to it. Corn pain stops. The corn or callous shrivels up, comes out. Blessed relief!

"GETS-IT" is sold at druggists at 25 cents a bottle, or sent on receipt of price to E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago. Sold in La Crosse by Columbian Pharmacy, City Book and Drug Store, Spence-McCord Drug Company.

HIS ECZEMA GONE AND BOILS CURED

Eczema Began When Three Weeks Old. Arms, Shoulders and Breast a Solid Scab. Boils Broke Out During Teething. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and He Was the Picture of Health.

"My son was about three weeks old when I noticed a breaking-out on his cheeks, from which a watery substance oozed. A short time after, his arms, shoulders and breast broke out also, and in a few days became a solid scab. I became alarmed, and called our family physician who at once pronounced the disease eczema. The little fellow was under his treatment for about three months. By the end of that time, he seemed no better. I became discouraged, and commenced the use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and in a few days noticed a marked change. The eruption on his cheeks was almost healed, and his shoulders, arms and breast were decidedly better. When he was about seven months old, all trace of the eczema was gone.

"During his teething period, his head and face were broken out in boils which I cured with Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Surely he must have been a great sufferer. During the time of teething and from the time I dropped the doctor's treatment, I used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Nothing else, and when two years old he was the picture of health. His complexion was soft and beautiful, and his head a mass of silky curls. I had been afraid that he would be a weak child, and I feel that I owe a great deal to the Cuticura Remedies." (Signed) Mrs. Mary W. Ramsey, 224 E. Jackson St., Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 24, 1910.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a liberal sample of each, with 32-page booklet on the skin and hair, will be sent, post-free, on application to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 55, Boston.

The MAN in the BROWN DERBY

by WELLS HASTINGS
Author of
The Professor's Mystery
Copyright, 1911, by Bobbs-Merrill Co.

At one minute past five the servant came out again from the other room and locked the folding doors. Then he worked his way about the room, and touched a man at random. The man got to his feet, his face paling and flushing by turn and followed the servant out of the room. The door was closed behind him.

Three minutes afterward another of us was summoned in the same way, and so it continued. The interview lasted about two minutes each, although some were much shorter and some took nearly five. It was an hour and a half before half the company had gone through the little door, and my turn came. I had quite expected to be among the last, and was just hitching my chair aside to allow the summoner to pass when he touched me on the shoulder.

I arose and squared my shoulders, threading my way after him among the chairs, and, as he held open the door, I gave a straightening touch to my tie and stepped before him into the next room. He followed me, closing the door after him.

"The man who came on the even hour," he announced.

It was the small room common to many city stables, the sanctum of the head coachman, where bits and robes are usually kept. A large pine table blocked the room in the middle, and at the farther side of it sat one of the strangest men that I had ever seen. His shoulders were drawn about his ears, and his hard little eyes were almost hidden under the extraordinary, long, gray bush of eyebrows that shot down over them. His nose was wide and long, the only fat thing in the shrunken leanness of his face. His lips and chin were long also, but the lips set tightly, while the flesh of the pointed chin hung loose, and when he spoke it was this that seemed to move rather than his lips.

"What is your name?" The voice was slow and soft.

"Mason Ellsworth," I answered, and squared my shoulders, while he was writing it down on a slip before him.

"College?"

"Yale."

"Class?"

"190."

"Step nearer to the window and turn so that I may see you thoroughly."

I went over to the window and turned myself about like a clothier's dummy.

"That is sufficient, Ellsworth," he said, when I had turned twice around for his inspection; "you won't do."

"Why?" I asked sharply, for I had seldom been treated so abruptly before I had removed my gloves.

"That is my affair, sir. Peters, open the door for the gentleman."

I turned to the door with a heavy heart. It seemed I would not even pass muster among the broken men who answered doubtful "Personals." But, as I put on my hat, the old man at the table recalled me sharply.

"Stop a moment, Ellsworth," he said. "Why were you tempted to answer such a dubious advertisement?"

"That is my affair," I answered; for I had had enough of this abrupt inquisition.

The old man grinned widely and his chin trembled like a rabbit's. "On the contrary, it is very much my affair. Answer my question!"

I was thoroughly angry. What right had this silver-voiced old ape to torture me if he had already determined my unfitness. I stepped over to the table and slowly drew off my gloves, stretching my hands

Milady's Toilet Table

By Mme. D'MILLE

"For dark and discolored skin, enlarged pores, blotches and other facial blemishes a simple lotion made at home is highly recommended. Dissolve an original package of mayotone in a half pint of water and rub a little on the face, neck and arms each morning. This is better than powder, for it tends to correct faulty complexions and makes the skin soft, smooth and youthful looking."

"Plain pyroxin applied to thin and straggly eyebrows with finger tips causes them to grow in thick and beautiful. Eyelashes will come in long and curly if pyroxin is applied to the roots with forefinger and thumb."

"A dry shampoo refreshes the scalp, removes dust, excess oil and dandruff, and leaves the hair beautifully fluffy, light and lustrous. To make the shampoo powder, mix four ounces of powdered orris root with an original package of theox. Sprinkle a teaspoonful on the head, brush it out thoroughly—and you will be delighted with the result."

"An effective and satisfactory method of removing superfluous hair is to apply delatone paste to the hairy surface, allow to remain two or three minutes, then wipe off, wash the skin, and the hairs will be gone. To make the paste, simply mix powdered delatone with water."

The KING of BLOOD PURIFIERS

As the Lion is Monarch of the Forest, so S. S. S. is King of Blood Purifiers and Master over all Blood diseases.

Pure, rich blood and a free circulation is the surest prevention against the diseases and disorders which are constantly attacking our physical systems. Healthy blood stimulates the excretory members and enables them to filter out of the system everything that is not necessary or beneficial to the growth and development of the body. Thus we are apt to remain healthy unless there is a weakening of the vital fluid or an impure infection of the circulation.

Imperfect blood takes various forms in its outward manifestation. A weak, watery circulation denotes anaemia with its attendant evils of pale, waxy complexions, malarial conditions, or perhaps some more definitely marked disorder is shown. Frequently the blood becomes infected with acid humors, and Eczema, Tetter, Acne, or some other skin affection makes its appearance, while an excess of uric acid in the circulation produces Rheumatism with its pains and aches. Old Sores and Ulcers are likewise dependent on bad blood, these places being kept open and in a state of irritation by the drainage of pollution which disordered blood constantly discharges into them.

Another common indication of weak, impure blood is the loss of appetite, tired, worn out feeling and a general run-down condition of the system. This is an ailment very prevalent in the Spring and most persons so afflicted realize the necessity of overcoming the trouble by the use of a tonic.

We recommend to all in need of a blood purifier or tonic, the use of S. S. S., a medicine which has proven itself the greatest of all blood purifiers. It goes down into the circulation and removes all impurities, humors and poisons and makes the blood pure and health-sustaining. It purifies and strengthens weak deteriorated blood, supplies it with the healthful properties it needs and lays the foundation for good health. As a tonic S. S. S. has no equal and those who are beginning to feel the need of such a medicine to fortify themselves against the unpleasant conditions which come with Spring and early Summer, should commence its use at once. S. S. S., the King of Blood Purifiers, is a genuine blood cleanser, made entirely from roots, herbs and barks; it does not contain a particle of mineral in any form. You could not do better than begin the use of S. S. S. if from any cause your blood is weak or impure. S. S. S. cures all troubles due to a deranged circulation, and you will find it the most satisfactory tonic you ever used. Write for book on the blood and any medical advice. No charge for either.

BOLT LAST IN BAG OF TRICKS

Roosevelt to Strive Hard After Seating His Delegates Before Splitting

ABANDON RIOTOUS PLANS

Control by Noise and Force Given Up and Will Now Try Orderly Methods

CHICAGO, June 19.—A continuation of the fight on the "stolen roll"—even to the extent of holding a separate Roosevelt convention, if the roll is not "purged"—was the program ordered by Colonel Roosevelt for today's session of the convention. The final instructions were delivered by the colonel at a roundup of the Roosevelt delegates shortly after midnight.

"Stick to your leaders," said Colonel Roosevelt. "Support Hadley, Johnson and Record. They will lead a fight to purge the roll. That fight must be made regardless of any other thing. It is not a question of my nomination. If I could be nominated by the use of that roll, I should not accept it."

At the opening of today's session it was agreed that Governor Hadley should have recognition to press a resolution, offered as a substitute for the resolution of James Watson of Indiana, for the usual appointment of a committee on credentials. The Hadley resolution offers a substitute roll for that of the national committee, and this substitute roll will be urged also in a minority report by Senator Borah, national committeeman from Idaho.

The sixty contested cases had been briefed so that their facts might be presented to the convention. The Roosevelt people were prepared to insist that nothing be done until the cases have finally been acted upon by the convention, minus the challenged votes.

It was their plan to insist that the challenged votes stand aside until their contests have been decided and that at no time shall they vote on their own cases. It was expected that the crisis would come when the acting chairman, Mr. Root, ruled against a demand that the challenged votes stand aside.

This was counted on to bring the Roosevelt people to the plain issue of accepting the roll or bolting.

According to the early morning plans, the program did not call for a "walkout" by the Roosevelt delegates.

They held that they could take action just as regularly by choosing a presiding officer of their own, putting him on a chair or at one end of the hall and keeping their own record and voting for their own candidate, leaving the rest of the delegates to take what action they please.

Tale of the Sea.

Seafaring people can generally quote plenty of instances to show how ill luck dogs a captain once it has claimed him. I know of many such (writes "H. W."), but the most curious case is connected with a small island or large rock in the Mediterranean. There is, or was, according to report, a man living on it. He had a goat which fed on the very limited verdure of the place, and from flossam he made himself a hut. The crews of passing ships would point out the smoke from his fire, though I confess I never could discern it myself. The story is that he was a ship's captain who was twice wrecked on this lonely place and rescued by passing vessels. One night he found his vessel piled up for the third time. His disgust was not lessened to find it was the same rock. His crew were rescued as before, but the captain refused to leave. He said it was no use. Fate would only send him back again, so he would stay where he was! I have sailed the Mediterranean in many different ships, but the story has always been told without variation.—Manchester Guardian.

Staying Power of Irish Butter.

Irish butter, which is engaging the attention of the house of lords, has staying powers. In 1906 some men cutting turf near Killucan found a tub containing about two hundredweight of butter buried deep in a bog. From the style in which the tub was made it was surmised that the butter was over 100 years old. Yet, owing to the use of some preservative, it was not absolutely unpalatable, though somewhat rancid. Similar deposits have been found in other parts of Ireland, some wrapped in cloth which on exposure to the air crumbled to dust. It is supposed that the preservative powers of peat soil were known to the Irish in very early days, and that during the summer they buried butter for use in the winter.—London Chronicle.

Water for Nervousness.

A trained nurse says: "If people would only drink more water they would not be so nervous." Nearly every doctor will recommend a woman who is suffering from nervous prostration or nervous exhaustion to drink lots of water between meals, but many women who do not come under a doctor's care would look better and feel better if they would drink at least a quart of water in the course of the day. Water seems to be a nerve food like good butter. It has a distinctly soothing effect when sipped gradually, as one can test for herself. Water drunk slowly and gradually has some what the same quality as deep breathing.

FORTY CONTESTS BROUGHT

Discussion of Vice President Brings Out Names of First Place Candidates

BALTIMORE, Md., June 19.—Chances today strongly favored Judge Alton B. Parker for temporary chairman of the democratic national convention. The selection will be made by the committee on arrangements tomorrow. Parker has the support of Leader Murphy, of Tammany hall, who controls the New York delegation to the convention.

Vice-Presidents Discussed

Plans are being made to strengthen the national ticket by inducing one of the defeated candidates for the presidential nomination to accept second place. Possible combinations suggested today are Clark with either Wilson or Gaynor in second place; Wilson, with either Clark or Harmon. Supporters of Harmon favor either Wilson or Underwood as his associate, and Underwood according to his friends would favor as a running mate either Harmon or a western progressive democrat.

In the event of Gaynor's nomination, it seems that an appeal will be made to Champ Clark, if he loses the contest, for the first place, to run for vice president in the interest of the party welfare.

Wilson Men Appear

Among the prominent arrivals are Senator Bankhead of Alabama whose son will nominate Underwood in the convention; Perry Belmont of New York; Representative A. Mitchell Palmer, leader of the democracy of Pennsylvania and James Hamilton Lewis of Chicago. Scores of Wilson men are conspicuous in hotel corridors, and on the streets wearing hat bands inscribed "Win With Wilson." Champ Clark's camp was established today in the Emerson hotel. His campaign will be under the direction of Senator Stone of Missouri. In striking contrast to the republican convention, contests here next week will involve only about forty delegates, according to Secretary Henry Woodson.

CLOTHIERS PLAY AT NEW LISBON SUNDAY

The La Crosse Clothing company baseball club goes to New Lisbon Sunday to meet the team representing that town and a great battle is expected as both teams are recognized as being among the best in this vicinity. Henry, the hurler who tried out with the Outcasts, will be on the mound for New Lisbon and he has a delivery which is hard to solve, but with either Chalmers or Bartels opposing him the battle will be interesting, for neither of these twirlers has been hit hard this year. Kane will play in the outfield for the Clothiers at New Lisbon.

WOMEN ASSAULT PREMIER

LONDON, June 19.—As Premier Lloyd George today was about to open the Welsh bazaar in Claxton hall, he was savagely assaulted by a mob of militant suffragettes. His hat was knocked off during the riot, in the course of which he was hustled from the hall. Several women were arrested.

GOULDIN AND KLINE LEAVE FOR CAMP

Layton Gouldin and Horton Kline, two of the high school professors, have left for northern Wisconsin, where they will spend about a month in hunting, fishing and a canoe trip down the Wisconsin river.

Messrs. Gouldin and Kline secured a complete camping outfit, including fishing paraphernalia and firearms, and ordered two canoes sent north to arrive at their camping grounds when they arrive at the lake which is near the Michigan border. They will remain in the north for about three weeks, after which they will start on a canoe trip down the Wisconsin river, camping and fishing on the way. They plan to travel down the Wisconsin river as far as the Delta, then come back to La Crosse about the last of July.

GREAT POWER OF THE LION Only When Seen in the Wilderness Can One Realize What a Great Beast He is.

"A very large lion I killed stood three feet and nine inches at the withers and of course carried his head higher than that," writes Stewart Edward White in the American Magazine. "The top of the table at which I sit is only two feet three inches from the floor. Coming through the door at my back that lion's shoulder would stand over a foot higher than half-way up. Look at your own writing desk; your own door. Furthermore, he was nine feet and eleven inches in a straight line from nose to end of tail, or over seven feet along the contour of the back. If he were to rise on his hind feet to strike a man down he would stand somewhere between seven and eight feet tall, depending on how nearly he straightened up.

"He weighed just under 600 pounds, or as much as four well-grown specimens of our own 'mountain lion.' I tell you this that you may realize, as I did not, the size to which a wild lion grows. Either menagerie specimens are stunted in growth or their position and surroundings tend to belittle them, for certainly until a man sees old Leo in the wilderness he has not understood what a fine chap he is.

"This tremendous weight is sheer strength. A lion's carcass when the skin is removed is a really beautiful sight. The great muscles lie in ropes and bands; the forearm thicker than a man's leg, the lithe barrel banded with brawn; the flanks overlaid by the long, thick muscles.

"And this power is instinct with the nervous force of a highly organized being. The lion is quick and intelligent and purposeful; so that he brings to his intensive activities the concentration of vivid passion—whether of anger, of hunger or of desire."

Missing the Point. Representative Buckner of Colorado, apropos of a tariff argument about sugar, said to a Washington correspondent: "Oh, well, those men don't see my point. They miss my point as badly as the old lady missed her son's." "Mother," a young man said, "would you believe that it takes 5,000 elephants a year to make our piano keys and billiard balls?" Make our piano keys and billiard balls!" cried the old lady. "Well! I always understood that elephants were intelligent creatures, but I never knew before that they'd been trained to make piano keys and billiard balls."

JURY SETTLES THEATRE FIGHT

W. D. Burford Found Justified in Smashing Casino Picture Show Sign in Rival's Lobby

Advertisements of Lyric Hidden by Boy with Banner of Other House

Although admitting upon the witness stand today that he had destroyed a sign owned by A. E. Parkinson of the Casino theater, the circumstances were such that the jury, composed of business men, found W. D. Burford, manager of the Lyric theater, not guilty.

According to the evidence given in county court this morning, boys employed by Mrs. A. E. Parkinson to carry signs, had been instructed to place them in the lobby of the Lyric theater. This was done several times, in such a manner that the advertisements of the Lyric were hidden from view.

W. D. Burford asserted that he reported the matter to Mrs. Parkinson, thinking that it was merely a child's prank and expecting that she would have it discontinued. Mrs. Parkinson instead, ordered him from the theater declaring that she would not discontinue the practice, whereupon he informed her if such business discourtesies were continued he would destroy the sign.

A few weeks ago a Casino sign was found in front of the Lyric. Witnesses testified that after Harry Burford, brother of W. D. Burford, had removed the sign three times only to have the boy bring it back, the defendant destroyed the sign. According to attorneys, Mr. Burford was technically guilty but the circumstances were so strong in his favor that the jury, after a moment's conference, returned the verdict of not guilty.

SAVED FROM SHARK'S JAWS

Veracious Account of the Experience of a Wrecked Passenger on the Atlantic.

They were telling stories in the smoke room.

"I'll tell you how I was once saved from a shark," said a stranger, who had listened with growing interest. "I was crossing the Atlantic, and I had my bike with me. About half-way a storm came on, and the ship began to sink. All the boats were filled with people and launched. There were even then a few left, myself being among them.

"An idea struck me, and I rushed down to where my machine was stored. I hurriedly removed the front wheel and then took off the tire. I took my pump and blew up the tube until it was the size of a life-buoy. Then I placed it under my arm-pits and jumped overboard.

"After floating about for a while a shark began making overtures to me. Just as it was going to swallow me it bit the inner tube, which exploded and blew me clean into America and the shark into little bits."

Motors in West Africa.

The policy of developing southern Nigeria by means of road-making has resulted in the existence of several hundred miles of roads suitable for mechanical transport. Motor cars are used by several Europeans, and two native gentlemen in Lagos have recently acquired cars. In addition to government transport services, the native government of Abokuta has successfully arranged a small transport service employing six motor wagons. Several motor bicycles are used by natives. There is, however, a good opening for a motor transport service in Lagos in connection with the removal of trade goods from the warehouses to merchants' premises and to the railway, while much remains to be done to bring about a more general use of motor traction throughout the country.

TRUE VALUE OF OUR LIFE

Some Great Emergency Furnishes the Test Which Makes Clear the Real Valuation.

There is so much for us to do, so many wrongs to be made right and so many evils to be remedied that a consideration of the petty bickerings of life is far beneath our notice. So long as life runs smoothly in its usual channel we are inclined to attach great importance to the minor details of existence and in time yield largely to their influence.

The terrible test of some great emergency, however, makes clear life's true values. The greatest success that can be attained, the largest fortunes that can be achieved, are as nothing in the closing hours of a man's life. Then it is that he scrutinizes his part for the least vestige of personal good which he has wrought, and it is that memory alone which is worth anything at all to him. He cannot derive much comfort from the wealth he has accumulated, or the social distinction he has attained, but he can and does rely for his eternal reward upon the unselfish and simple service he has rendered for the welfare of others. The life upon which we place so high a value must end some time, sooner perhaps than we imagine. We must build for the future, indeed, not blindly, not selfishly, not brutally, but in that spirit of brave fellowship which measures up to every emergency.

BOLT QUESTION IS IN BALANCE AT CONVENTION

son was relied on to do the heavy work by the Taft men to offset that of Governor Hadley. Congressman Sereno Payne was in the New York delegation in readiness to come to Watson's aid, when the fighting became heavy.

The Roosevelt delegates, headed by their two flaming gold and blue banners, marched into the hall at 10:45 a. m. Their two women delegates were greeted with shouts of "You are all right," and smiled their appreciation of this greeting from the galleries. After getting settled in their seats the banners were rolled up, and put out of sight.

Senator Root came in five minutes later, and was greeted with mild handclapping from the New York delegation. He was given the gold badge of the temporary chairman, which he pinned carefully to his vest under his coat.

Root and Watson talked over things in whispers while the delegates were gathering. Afterward Governor Hadley and Watson conferred to agree on just how the debate was to be managed.

By 10:50 a. m., nearly all of the delegates were in the seats awaiting the chairman's signal.

Congressman Longworth with his wife, "Princess Alice" pushed their way through the crowd unnoticed to the seats reserved for them.

The police began pushing the crowds through the aisles as eleven o'clock drew near, in an attempt to get the aisles clear. Sergeant-at-Arms Stone was insistent in his demand that the police keep the aisles clear and this demand was united by the city fire marshal who threatened, unless a clear was kept to the aisles, to clear the building, delegates or no delegates.

No Smoking
In addition to the anti-smoking rule was rigidly enforced today. Uniformed firemen passed among the delegates and had no hesitancy in taking lighted cigars and cigarettes away from their surprised holders and stamping out the fire. The amount of wood used in the construction of platforms and stages was enormous and a fire would undoubtedly start a panic.

Five minutes before the time set for the convention to assemble, Hemenway, Flinn, Clapp, Johnson, Hadley, and Dixon were in conference. The Roosevelt leaders were divided on just when to make their fight. Some wanted to stand or fall by the Hadley motion to substitute the Roosevelt delegates for the Taft men seated in the contests by the national committee, while others wanted the fight to mark only the beginning of hostilities. They conferred in whispers.

Barnes sent a note to Senator Root and the temporary chairman after reading it, nodded an affirmative to Jim Wadsworth, who folded it up and carefully placed it in his pocket.

Called to Order
It was just 11:16 when Senator Root's gavel fell heavily on the mahogany table in front of him.

"Gentlemen will please clear the aisles and take their seats," he shouted. Root's voice was very hoarse and Stone came to the rescue.

"Sergeant, please clear those aisles for me," he said to the police officer in command, and the latter did so.

While this was going on, Frank B. Kellogg, the Minnesota lawyer, laid the law down to the progressive leaders. He told them point blank that Francis J. Heney was a detriment to the progressive fight.

"He simply stirs up trouble," said Kellogg, "and acts as a firebrand on every occasion. We have a chance to win this fight and ought not to throw it aside, by letting him speak."

Kellogg had his way and it was agreed Heney would be gagged so far as the Hadley motion was concerned.

Root stood watching the delegates leisurely taking their time finding seats for about five minutes. Then he sat down in his chair and took up a paper which he read carefully.

Hadley came on the platform from the conference with his lieutenants with his program completed. He had agreed to present the proposition of the Roosevelt men on the program, and also specifically to deal with the Texas contest. Governor Johnson was to discuss the California contest; George Record of New Jersey, Arizona, and Indiana, and Henry Allen the other contests.

Gov. Deneen was slated to sum up the case for the Roosevelt men and also to ask that the Hadley motion be divided so that the vote on California could be taken first.

At 11:29 the opening invocation was delivered by Rabbi Joseph Stoltz of Chicago, the delegates and spectators standing reverently on their feet. The prayer was long drawn out and many of the delegates seemed restless before it was concluded.

Root at once announced that the unfinished business was the Hadley amendment. He stated that an agreement for division of the time, an hour and a half to each side, had been reached.

Hadley Opens
Governor Hadley opened the debate at 11:38. He was cheered enthusiastically by the Roosevelt men as he stepped to the front. Many of the delegates were on their chairs.

"I am going to trespass but for a few moments," began Hadley and a hush fell over the audience.

Hadley explained his amendment, which was ruled out of order yesterday. He declared that it was necessary that his amendment be carried so that the will of the republican voters in the various states might be expressed. He criticized the Roosevelt ruling briefly, insisting that his original motion, made immediately after the convention assembled, was proper.

"We had two courses confronting us," said Hadley. "One was to arbitrarily meet the unparliamentary ruling of the chair, the other was to bring the matter before this convention. We chose the latter course and so bring this question before you again."

"We hold that there are 78 delegates placed on the temporary roll by the national committee that do not belong there. We now ask that the names of the men voted for by 14 members of the national committee be put on this roll and the names of the men now on the roll eliminated."

"I want to present to you the indictment against the action of the national committee. This question affects not only the next convention but also the very existence of the republican party efforts."

"Naked Theft"
Hadley then revealed the Roosevelt meeting of last Monday and repeated the Roosevelt charge that the action of the national committee was "naked theft," designed to thwart the will of the people of the United States. This assertion was greeted with applause as was Hadley's statement that he did not know whether the majority would agree with him that Theodore Roosevelt was the logical candidate for president.

"But you will agree," he continued, "that he is the greatest power for good in the western world."

Hadley then read the statement signed by fourteen members of the national committee which was prepared by Senator Borah for presentation as a minority report on the contests. It held that the delegates in question should be refused votes until after their right to seats had been passed on by the uncontested delegates to the convention.

Hadley paid high tribute to Borah's ability as a United States senator when he referred to his signature of the minority report.

He stopped reading the list after mentioning Borah and Kellogg as the New York men shouted:

"Read them all; read them all."

The reason developed when it was found that William L. Ward had not signed the protest.

"Mr. Ward unites in the spirit of the protest," said Hadley, "but as he did not sit in all contests he did not sign the formal document."

A shout went up from the New York delegation and Hadley quickly retorted by shouting:

"Mr. Ward does not sign any paper merely to advance the interests of a candidate because that man belongs to his faction, and regardless of the merits of the case."

Hadley then referred to the California contest, saying that it was shown conclusively that the delegates from the fourth district who were unseated by the national committee, carried the state by 77,000 votes.

So far as Texas was concerned, he said the Taft delegates seated were chosen by a convention which had only 209 delegates present and represented only a small section of the republicans of the state.

Hadley demanded that all the contested delegates be refused votes until their right had been passed on by the credentials committee. He insisted that Watson had misrepresented some of the facts in the decision of the republican national committee precedents.

"No man should be a judge in his own case," said Hadley and then he referred to the old English decision which incorporates that principle.

"We submit this question with only this reservation," concluded Hadley, "and that is that these men who are unlawfully here shall not be permitted to vote on the question of whether they shall be beneficiaries of the fraud which was committed in their behalf."

Taft Men Open
For the Taft men the argument was opened by W. T. Dovaal of Seattle. He plunged right into the Washington contest saying that the very day that the Washington convention was held Col. Roosevelt charged that a plot was afoot to steal Washington from him.

"That statement was outrageously false," declared Dovaal. He then repeated the argument made before the state committee in which it was claimed that the Roosevelt men who were in the minority, bolted the regular convention and elected their delegates in a mass meeting.

"It is utterly false that the state of Washington was ever carried by Colonel Roosevelt. The controversy arose over King county, the largest in the state. The paid manager of the Roosevelt forces packed into a meeting of the county central committee 150 men appointed by himself in order to control the convention."

Alleges Law Violation
"That spurious committee disregarded our mandatory law and appointed the election judges and committees, so that the Roosevelt forces could have control. Then they elected delegates at a primary which was illegal. The Taft men refused to participate in these unlawful primaries at which there were cast 3,000 votes in a community having more than 100,000 voters."

"It was on that showing that the candidate from Oyster Bay claimed he had carried Washington by a vote of eight to one."

"Our state committee refused to seat these fraudulent delegates. The Roosevelt forces had agreed to bring contests in every county in order to disqualify the Taft men on the temporary roll."

At this point Root called on Secretary Gleason to read the Hadley amendment and names of the Roosevelt delegates whom Hadley wanted seated.

Henry J. Allen of Kansas, for the Roosevelt forces swayed the audience at the outset when he said:

"The thing I liked best in the speech of your distinguished temporary chairman was his statement: 'We will keep the covenant of our fathers'."

"That covenant was between the weak and the strong. I speak today for the delegates from Washington who were regularly elected, but who were ruled out by the national committee without their claim to seats being considered on its merits. 'I have 200 pounds of evidence that proves the statements made by the opposition are untrue. This evidence was presented to the committee but it refuses to consider it at all.'"

Denies Taft Statement
Allen said that the statement that Roosevelt received only 3,000 votes in King county was not true.

"In that county there were 60,000 votes cast and of these Mr. Taft received only 50. I think this was the exact percentage that he was entitled to."

Allen then took up the Washington contest as presented by Senator Poinsett before the national committee repeating all of the arguments made by the Washington senator before that committee. Allen insisted that the Roosevelt conventions were regular and the Taft conventions rump ones.

He challenged New York's delegation to vote to seat the Washington Taft delegates on the merits of the case and received a storm of "yes, yes."

A delegate arose in the Colorado seats and demanded: "Will you support the nominee of this convention?"

A wild storm of protest came from all over the hall. Questions were being handled back and forth. Flinn shouted: "How about Penrose?"

"I will answer you," shouted Hemenway. "You ask about Penrose. Well, I'll tell you straight—it's Penrose above Flinn every time."

This assertion started another storm. The New York delegates joined with Indiana in cheering Hemenway. Flinn was on his feet shouting in defiance. His delegation was cheering him loudly. Root came to the front and rebuked Flinn.

"If the gentleman from Pennsylvania wants an honest hearing of his charges and his statements," he said, "he will conduct the proceedings in an orderly manner."

Flinn Starts Row
Root pounded for order, but Flinn insisted on recognition. Snatching a megaphone from a delegate he shouted: "I rise to a point of order. The gentleman from Indiana is not speaking to the question."

Root did not hesitate a second. Pointing his gavel at the Pennsylvania man, he declared: "The gentleman will take his seat."

Flinn stood his ground. Smashing the table again and again with his gavel, Root announced: "The point of order is not well taken. The gentleman from Pennsylvania will take his seat. When quiet is restored the gentleman from Indiana will resume."

Flinn sat down. Hemenway ended his argument ally. Allen answered: "I want to support the nominee of this convention more than anyone else in the convention, and I will support the nominee of this convention only if he secures that nomination honorably and it is not accompanied by fraud or thievery."

Roosevelt Men Cheer
The Roosevelt men jumped to their feet with a wild yell and a fusillade of cheers. The Colorado and New York delegates were all shouting additional questions when a point of order was raised and again the many delegates could not hear the facts in the contests.

The delegate who made the issue demanded that the temporary chairman rule the interruptions out of order: "The point of order is well taken," said Root, pounding on the table with his gavel.

"There must be fair play for both sides here. I would call the attention of the delegates to the fact that interruptions on one side lead to the interruptions from the other. These demonstrations are entirely out of order."

The ruling of the chair seemed to please both sides and Allen continued with his analysis of the Washington cases.

When he took up the King county case, saying that Roosevelt received more than six thousand votes there, former Congressman Herbert Parsons, of New York arose and demanded: "How many votes are there in King county?"

"I think about 50,000," was the reply.

"The other speaker said 100,000; which is the right?"

"He may be," was the reply.

Refused Admittance
Allen then declared that the state committee packed the roll of the regular state convention and issued tickets only to Taft men.

"They were afraid that the men who believe in right would stampede the convention for Roosevelt," said Allen, "and so they would not let delegates in. I have a picture here showing the door of the convention hall with its guard of prize fighters who kept the regularly elected delegates out of the hall."

When former Senator James Hemenway of Indiana was announced as the next speaker a voice from the Indiana reservation yelled: "He's a contested delegate."

Hemenway stated at the outset that he was not concerned with the fight between Roosevelt and Taft at this time but whether the temporary roll was properly made up. He reviewed the action of the national committee and argued that its action was both proper and legal and in strict accord with the rules of the republican party.

Defends Committee
Hemenway held that to assail the national committee for its decision was unjust and unfair.

"There were thirteen members and one proxy of the national committee who signed this protest, and there were thirty-nine members who did not."

"Who are they?" demanded Flinn.

"I'll tell you," answered Hemenway. "You say that the majority of the committee have been repudiated by their own constituents."

"Let me call your attention to the fact that all but two of the men who signed this protest have not been returned."

"Tell us who they are," again shouted Flinn.

"Let me tell you men in the Pennsylvania delegation," said Hemenway, "that you do not want to listen to an argument. You want to appeal to passion. You won't hear anything that tells the truth about yourselves. Now I don't say Senator Borah and Frank Kellogg were repudiated because they were not returned. They did not want to be returned, neither did Harry New and I am not anxious to accept the statement of T. Colman Dupont of the powder trust as to who should go on the roll. I would rather take the word of Harry New and men like him."

Hemenway then took up the charges of fraud made in the Indiana cases. He declared that the seating of the Indiana delegates at large was by unanimous vote in which Borah joined.

"Shame on such contests," he continued. "They were paper contests anyhow."

Hemenway turned the laugh on the Roosevelt forces by repeating Colonel Roosevelt's statement, that, despite the number of contests filed from Alabama he only expected to win one.

"The others were paper contests," he shouted, "to give certain people a chance to yell fraud! fraud! where there was no fraud."

Hemenway then assailed Cecil Lyon for, he said, driving away five-sixths of the republicans of Texas.

Flinn shouted: "How about Penrose?"

"I will answer you," shouted Hemenway. "You ask about Penrose. Well, I'll tell you straight—it's Penrose above Flinn every time."

This assertion started another storm. The New York delegates joined with Indiana in cheering Hemenway. Flinn was on his feet shouting in defiance. His delegation was cheering him loudly. Root came to the front and rebuked Flinn.

"If the gentleman from Pennsylvania wants an honest hearing of his charges and his statements," he said, "he will conduct the proceedings in an orderly manner."

Flinn Starts Row
Root pounded for order, but Flinn insisted on recognition. Snatching a megaphone from a delegate he shouted: "I rise to a point of order. The gentleman from Indiana is not speaking to the question."

Root did not hesitate a second. Pointing his gavel at the Pennsylvania man, he declared: "The gentleman will take his seat."

Flinn stood his ground. Smashing the table again and again with his gavel, Root announced: "The point of order is not well taken. The gentleman from Pennsylvania will take his seat. When quiet is restored the gentleman from Indiana will resume."

Flinn sat down. Hemenway ended his argument

amidst rival cheers and boos from the two factions.

George Record of Jersey City argued for the Hadley motion, discussing the Arizona and Indiana cases. In the Arizona case he repeated the argument he made personally before the national committee claiming that the Taft convention was a rump one, while the Roosevelt convention was the only legal one.

Mrs. Fola La Follette-Middleton, daughter of the Wisconsin senator, and her husband, George Middleton, took advantage of the Record argument to empty a quart bottle of milk which Mrs. Middleton had brought with her. At the same time they munched crackers which Mrs. Middleton also brought along.

One of the Wisconsin men protested that he could not hear and said that the confusion was due to the fact that it was lunch time. He asked a recess until three p. m., but a howl of "No" came from every section of the hall and Record continued his argument, Root ruling the motion out of order.

Record held that no state where a contest was filed should be represented on the credentials committee. By permitting them to be represented, he said, "fraud would be perpetrated."

Referring to the Indiana contests Record said that there was no question but that frauds were perpetrated in Marion county, which should have invalidated the entire election. He reviewed at length the allegation that automobiles laden with negroes went from ward to ward to vote illegally.

While the recess was in progress, a messenger boy from the telephone company came in and whispered to Colonel William Jennings Bryan that he was wanted on the long distance telephone to talk to Baltimore.

The colonel left his seat in the press section and went to a closed booth in which he remained quite a long time. Afterward he said that he was discussing questions in connection with next week's convention, but he refused to say to whom he was talking.

In conclusion Record said: "We, as well as you, want to remain in the republican party. We do not want to be driven out by force or by conscience. But we cannot endorse the proposition that this convention can be packed by an outside organization. We must say that those who are charged with fraud must stand aside to permit those whose title to seats is unquestioned to say who are and who are not the legal delegates to the convention."

Judge Robert E. Morris of Arizona replied to Record and insisted that his statements of the facts were unfounded. He declared that the charges of fraud in Arizona were baseless and defended the action of the Arizona state committee in calling the regular state convention which elected the Taft delegates.

"Everything was regular and in accord with the exact procedure of the party," he declared.

"They say there was fraud," yelled Morris. "I threw the charge into their teeth. All that was used by Taft men was parliamentary tactics. The fact of the matter was that the republicans, whether they were democrats."

A wild yell went up at what was supposed to be a slip, but he continued:

"I use the term advisedly because there are democrats in Arizona who will vote the republican ticket by fall."

John Mackay of Detroit spoke against the Hadley amendment and immediately attacked the fairness of the Roosevelt forces. His mention of President Taft's name was marked by a brief cheering spell in which the Taft men climbed on their chairs. Charles P. Taft, the president's brother, led the cheering from his seat with the Ohio delegation and appeared to be enjoying himself immensely.

Maurice L. Gavin of Kentucky, attacked the Roosevelt contests in the blue grass state, characterizing them as unfair and without merit or foundation.

During the course of the afternoon as the speeches dragged out and the delegates became tired there was a swing over to the British methods of showing disapproval. Yesterday, good ear-splitting American hisses were used by the delegates, but today nearly every outburst was marked by wild booing, a great deal of which came from the galleries. As the day wore on, hissing was almost entirely abandoned and the booing was often so strong as to absolutely drown out the words of the speakers.

Go Wild For Hadley
Tom Watson of Indiana got up to close the argument for the Taft side, and made a statement quoting Governor Hadley which the latter rose to correct. As soon as he appeared on the platform a wild cheer went up and the first spontaneous demonstration of the convention started.

The Missouri governor stood smiling while the delegates cheered.

More than half the delegates were on their chairs. Hats were swinging and handkerchiefs were waving while Hadley and Watson, representing the two great factions in the party, stood smiling side by side.

For five minutes the demonstration continued and the forces were being continued every second. Already the Taft men from New York were talking among themselves.

"Looks like they might try to stampede this convention for Hadley," whispered the veteran Chauncey Dewey, to William Berri, who stood alongside of him. As this word was passed, James W. Wadsworth waved to his delegation and the members jumped to their seats yelling, cheering and adding to the din. Part of Indiana joined in the demonstration headed by Jim Hemenway.

Wisconsin and North Dakota sat stolidly in their seats as New Jersey started the procession of the standards around the room. New Jersey's efforts was futile for a moment, but suddenly a Missouri man grabbed his state standard and started after the New Jersey men. North Carolina followed, then came Kansas and Nebraska.

M'GOVERN WILL FOLLOW OUT HIS INSTRUCTIONS

for the nomination. That would have saved him and his chief the humiliation of being publicly buncoed by "T. R.," said La Follette leaders.

A Roosevelt Coup
As to the practical result of the McGovern coup, it may be noted that Mr. Root was actually elected before Wisconsin was reached in the roll call. However the papers here recognize the affair as a Roosevelt coup. It has done untold harm. Had Mr. Houser not explained it to the convention it would have led to Cummings on a break, to go to Cummins rather than to La Follette and this danger was obviated only at the expense of alienating strong Roosevelt delegates from La Follette as their second choice.

Had Cochems been elected a Roosevelt delegate from Wisconsin his conduct to date would have been entitled to the unqualified approval of "T. R."

Cochems' resignation came last night. There had been talk also of McGovern going home, but it was probably unfounded.

Cochems Explains.
Cochems, who nominated La Follette for president four years ago, today came out with a second bitter attack upon the Wisconsin progressive, explaining his action in nominating McGovern for temporary chairman, and his resignation.

"La Follette himself, and his manager are out to lick Roosevelt, that's all," said Cochems. "They are utterly disregarding the progressive principles, the fight for the people, which Roosevelt, just as much as La Follette, is waging. For ten days Manager Houser has been trafficking with the Taft crowd, defending the rotten steals of the national committee and conducting a campaign of vengeance upon Roosevelt rather than support of the progressives."

"I got sick of the whole dirty mess, and simply quit to save my own self-respect. I felt I would be stultifying myself to keep a seat on the delegation when instructed for La Follette and did not wish to be accused of desertion, or treachery. Now I am free to make a progressive fight as I see it."

Cochems entered the Roosevelt ranks today, but unofficially.

Walter Houser, La Follette's campaign manager; Col. John J. Hannan, secretary to the senator, and A. T. Rogers, Wisconsin national committeeman, united today in declaring that Wisconsin, and also the North Dakota delegation, would vote solidly at all times for the nomination of La Follette. They also said Wisconsin's 26 votes will be cast with the Taft forces "against purging" the temporary roll.

"The proposition of Governor Hadley and the Roosevelt crowd is utterly absurd—too wild-eyed for consideration," said Col. Hannan. "Why should a personally conducted roll of delegates, as chosen by Hadley, or anybody else, be substituted for those chosen by the national committee? We will vote to have the whole affair referred to the credentials committee."

Manager Houser also declared the Roosevelt plan is indefensible.

"In all of the contests probably 3,000 briefs and affidavits are prepared," said Houser, "to ask the convention, as a mass, to seat the Roosevelt people en bloc, would be the height of absurdity. Most of the Roosevelt contests were manufactured, anyway, and are without merit and indefensible."

"As far as Cochems' resignation is concerned, it was the only thing he could do," continued Houser. "He bolted the Wisconsin caucus action, which voted 15 to 11, an hour before entering the Coliseum, against presenting a candidate for temporary chairman. The Wisconsin delegation is out to fight for a principle—the nomination of La Follette first, and last upon the principles for which he stands."

Promise Vengeance
National Committeeman Rogers breathed vengeance upon McGovern and Cochems.

"Their political death-knell is sounded," said Rogers. "McGovern comes up for re-election this fall, and I think I can safely say that La Follette will be right busy about that time. The vice presidential bait was too much for the political selfishness of McGovern. But McGovern and all of his ilk on the delegation have got to vote for La Follette, or get off the delegation. And I predict every man-jack of them will vote for the senator."

"They will go back home as political dead ducks, if they don't," Rogers declared.

All of the La Follette leaders emphatically declared the La Follette delegates, both from Wisconsin and North Dakota, will not follow the Roosevelt delegates in any bolt, or defection from the regular convention.

"Roosevelt hasn't a chance to get away with a bolt," said Manager Houser. "He has got to take 540 delegates with him if he leaves the convention, and where is he going to get them? Not more than 250 or 300 delegates at most would follow a bolt. They have got to abide by the convention or be discredited absolutely."

"And our 46 votes look pretty good, don't they, this morning?" Houser asked, declaring La Follette's chances never looked better than today.

Cochems' defection breaks up a Wisconsin plan to demand curtailment of southern representation in the convention. Cochems had prepared a lengthy brief to demand reduction of delegates from the south. It is now uncertain if his part will be taken by any Wisconsin man, but Cochems may act as an individual Roosevelt supporter before the committee.

Most Positive Statement Made By This Keyville Lady Regarding Cardui, The Woman's Tonic

KEYSVILLE, Va.—Mrs. Mary B. Towles, of this place, says: "Before I commenced Cardui, I would have fainting spells, and sick headache, and my back ached so I can't begin to tell all the symptoms. I am glad to say that since using only two bottles of Cardui, the woman's tonic, I am in better health than for many years before. I don't suffer any pains now. I can't begin to say enough for the Cardui treatment. I shall not go without Cardui in my house. I have been recommending the remedy to others, who knew how I used to suffer, and many of them are now taking it. They give Cardui the highest praise."

Cardui helps nature to perform a cure in a natural, easy way. It is made from mild herbs, having a gentle tonic effect on the womanly constitution. Cardui improves the appetite, tones up the nervous system, and helps to make pale, sallow cheeks, fresh and rosy.

For pain, weakness and any of the troubles from which weak women suffer, Cardui has proven its helping, curative power. Have you tried it? If not, do so today. It may be just what you need. N. NORMAL PLAYERS FIT THEIR ROLES

Score a Decided Success in Presentation of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night"

MISS VAUGHN IS DIRECTOR Senior Class Members Display More Than Amateur Talent in Theatrical

With a display of talent which would do credit to a much more seasoned troupe of players, the senior class of the Normal school last night scored a decided success in their class play, "Twelfth Night," at the La Crosse theater. Under the careful direction of Miss Fay Vaughn the cast responded in their Shakespearean roles in a manner which almost made the crowded house forget the real identity of the local players.

Earl Brandenburg as Toby Belch and Emil Krause as Sir Andrew Aguecheek repeatedly brought down the house in throes of laughter by their comical interpretations of the two dissipated noblemen. Their work was heartily commended particularly for not overdoing their parts.

Carol Cotton as Marie, Olivia's maid, did excellent work. She filled her part with a sprightliness and vivacity which put her efforts far above amateur standing. Her enunciation was especially commendable. Howard Jones as Malvolio, important steward who was duped by his fellow servants, showed that his experience as public speaker could also be used in drama, his acting being of very high class. As the Clown, William Bonnevillie easily filled the bill. He did not overact and his antics about the unfortunate Malvolio were comical to the extreme. Agnes Schaller made a pleasing Olivia. Her bearing was very dignified and deliberate and she did excellent work. William Stevenson as Duke Orsino played his part well, speaking his words very distinctly. Maud Neprud made a very acceptable Viola carrying a difficult role in most pleasing style. Don Dickenson, Viola's twin brother, and Arthur Tillman as Antonio, his friend, fitted their parts exactly and showed much thought in their efforts. Mabel Hutchinson as Valentine, Gertrude Dickens as Fabian, Ruth Rynning as Curio, Ben Stevens as sailor, man servant and officer, upheld their parts in excellent manner. Eunice Freeman and Blanche Odell as lady's maids, Fay Dougherty as the sea captain, Frank Gore and Ernest Schaffner, officers, handled themselves well.

The costumes were a feature of the success of the evening and were well chosen for the different parts. The play is in five acts consisting of fourteen scenes, but there was not a dull moment in the presentation of this great Shakespearean comedy.

Keeping Air Fresh. A good way to keep the air of a room fresh and slightly perfumed is to place a jar in some inconspicuous place in the room and put in the jar a small block of ammonia, over which pour some ordinary cologne water. This makes a faint, pleasant odor of which one is hardly conscious.

How Any Woman Can Defy Nature and Make Herself Into A Queen of Beauty

By Miss Valeska Suratt, the World's Greatest Exponent of Self-Made Beauty

The reader of this remarkable series of beauty talks by the great actress, Valeska Suratt, now appearing in The Tribune, will probably be surprised at the remarkable simplicity of her advice. You will notice how little there is to do, yet how important is the little that is given. In this simplicity lies the magic of Miss Suratt's art, different from the complicated, tiresome and burdensome rules and theories usually given for beauty culture.

anyhow. It will be about things that are simple; things you can't forget; things that will require but a few moments of your time and which are merely in line with your ordinary toilet which you engage in every day in the year.

There will be no long-drawn-out rules affecting your mode of life. I am not going to tell you to bathe twice a day in warm water; I am not going to advise you to lie on your back on the hard floor and kick up your heels and flap your arms around in half an hour's breathless the ice-water you want. I other words, I believe in sanity. At least, my dear sisters, off the stage. I sometimes wonder whether or not I am really the one who has found a real source of beauty-making—it has all come so easily, so quickly, so promptly, almost as at the touch of a fairy wand.

Yet, if anyone is entitled to the fruits of great labor, I believe I am one. I studied and I worked. All that I had tried and used before were makeshifts and make-believes. I knew it, because when I would arise in the morning with hair disheveled, with drowsy eyes, and the ruby on my cheek had gone, and the pallor of the morning had come, all the work of the previous day had vanished and another day of struggling for twelve hours of beauty at the dressing-table lay before me. Now the mornings have no terrors for me. The beauty work that I did yesterday, last week, last month, last year, still remains for today, tomorrow and the future. I live in peace and happiness with the beckoning world before me. They receive me with open arms, and I love them.

Today I have picked out for you one of the most important of my beauty secrets, and I am sure if you will do exactly as I instruct you to do, you will, in the next few weeks, say with me, Eureka! Then your heart will palpitate with mine, and you will know.

In this first of her beauty-talks, Miss Suratt has something to say of supreme importance to every woman and every woman ought to read it and heed it. Every department of beauty-making will come in for its share of consideration. Nothing will be omitted which in any way has a practical bearing upon the ability of every woman to make herself, as this great actress shows, a queen of transcendent beauty, in a very short time. Nothing like this series of beauty-talks has ever before been published. Next Wednesday will appear the second of this beauty series. Act upon today's advice today and experience the improvement you little expected, by the time next Wednesday rolls around.

Most important to the average woman is how to get rid of those tell-tale signs of age Father Time's register wrinkles! Volumes have been written upon the subject, but the only treatment worth while is the treatment that has done the work. Theories are valueless. I have used the following treatment for several years, after I gave up the old, thread-bare advice that seemed to take an age to produce any result at all. I made up the treatment myself, and had several of my de-servicing friends use it. This was at the very beginning.

The result you will picture to yourself when I say that one elderly lady in particular, of 56, a good friend of mine in Philadelphia, began to use it a day or so before I left that city. I saw her again in a little over three weeks afterward, and I was so astonished I gasped. She confessed she had used nothing else but the treatment I gave her. She had had three or four deep wrinkles in her forehead and crow's feet that you could almost count clear across the room. These, to my wonderment, were almost gone! And the result on a few of my other friends has been invariably the same. Upon myself, the world has seen its results, and anyhow, I prefer not to talk about myself too much; I might grow a double chin. Make up the treatment yourself as follows, obey instructions implicitly, and you will not be disappointed.

In a large bowl pour one-half pint boiling water. In this pour two tablespoonfuls of glycerine. Place this bowl in a pan of water on a slow fire. In a few minutes add two ounces of eptol and continue stirring until all is dissolved. At first it will look like jelly, then it will start to cream. When it does this, remove it from the fire and stir constantly until cold. Then keep it in an air-tight jar. You should be able to get eptol at any good drug-store and it should not cost you more than fifty cents. This will last quite a while.

Apply this cream every morning with the tips of the ten fingers, after you have washed your face thoroughly with warm water and soap. Plaster your face very liberally all over with it, around the eyes, on the forehead, on either side of the mouth, everywhere. After you have applied it, don't merely rub your face all over as though you were dandling a baby's skin, but dig right in. Take up the flesh in your fingers and pinch it, squeeze it, roll it. Do this for a few minutes, until the cream disappears. Then apply your completion powder. Do the same at night. Don't look in the mirror every few hours to see if the wrinkles are going away; they'll go away soon enough if you make up your mind to stick to it. This cream will not grow hair.

Next Wednesday I will give you several of my other secrets, although today I could give you only one for lack of space. I will also answer in this column some of the personal inquiries I have received in the mail. But it's simple, isn't it? And it is just as wonderful as it is simple. Inquiries should be addressed to me in person, care of this newspaper.

ROBINSON AFTER SYDNEY ANDERSON

Winona Legislator Will Fight for the Democratic Nomination of First Congressional District

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 19.—Clinton Robinson, democratic member of the house from St. Charles, Minn., filed today for the democratic nomination for congressman from the First district. Before the house met in final session this morning, he went to the office of the secretary of state, pushed $20 across the counter and thereby became a full fledged, self propelling candidate, ready to oppose Sydney Anderson if he can muster enough votes in the primary to get the nomination.

Representative Robinson has appeared in the house as one of its unusual members. He has been ready to speak on every question, any place, any time and anywhere. And just as sure as R. C. Dunn got up and approved a measure, Clinton Robinson opposed it. Once, in a moment when he lost his temper Mr. Dunn called him a "whiffet," and had house members spending long hours looking up books to find just what a "whiffet" was.

At another time, when exasperated because he was not given sufficient opportunity to speak in debate, Mr. Robinson complained as follows: "Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of personal privilege. You give all these other fellows a chance to talk as long as they please, and with all the latitude in the world. But when I get up to speak you want to confine me to the Lord's prayer."

he customarily is recognized by the speaker, has outlined the campaign he will make against Congressman Anderson.

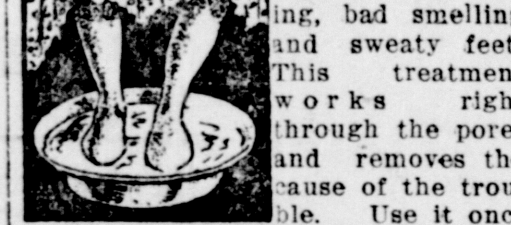

"I am going to challenge him to meet me in debate at the ten largest towns in the district," he explained this morning, "to discuss national issues. Four or five of Anderson's strongest supporters have offered me their support. There isn't a progressive democrat down there who can poll the vote I can."

"What about H. L. Buck?" he was asked.

"Aw," Robinson replied, "he's too old to make the race."

Wonderful Treatment For Corns Callouses and All Sore Feet

Millions of people who endure daily torture from sore feet will welcome the information that there is now a simple treatment that positively and quickly cures foot ailments of all kinds. You can say goodbye to corns and callouses; bunions; swollen, aching, bad smelling and sweaty feet. This treatment works right through the pores and removes the cause of the trouble. Use it once and your feet feel delightful; use it for a week and your foot troubles will be a thing of the past. "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of warm water. Soak the feet in this for full fifteen minutes, gentle rubbing the sore parts." Amazing results follow. Calocide was formerly confined to doctors' use but now any druggist will supply it. If he does not have it in stock he can get it in a few hours from his wholesale house. A twenty-five cent package is said to be enough to put the worst feet in fine condition.

SUMMER SESSIONS AT NORMAL SCHOOL

The summer session of the La Crosse state normal school will begin Monday morning, June 24. Already indications point to an attendance of several hundred who wish to take work at the institution during the summer months. The model school will also be conducted in order to enable those who wish to take practice in teaching to do so. For that purpose thirty children will be accepted in the model school with free tuition first as that is the number which the school will accommodate during the summer session and children will be accepted only in order of their application. All such applications should be sent as soon as possible to the registrar of the normal school.

Convention Sidelights

CHICAGO, June 19.—Taft delegates from Texas and Nevada are threatening to "get" National Committeeman Cecil Lyon of Texas and Lucius Littauer, proxy committeeman from Nevada. Lyon and Littauer are both Roosevelt adherents. They seized the badges intended for the Taft delegates seated by the national committee, but handed them out regardless of the contests to the Roosevelt men leaving the Taftites to hustle for a place in the Coliseum.

The most careful man in Chicago and perhaps the most interested in the "big fight" is Nicholas Longworth, representative from Ohio, in President Taft's congress and son-in-law of Theodore Roosevelt. "Nick" evades the newspapermen and thinks twice before he says anything to his oldest and most confidential friends. He never indulges in secrets.

"How's this fight going to end, Nick?" asked a delegate today. After much deliberation the Ohioan replied in whispering tones: "I dunno—it's mighty hard to tell."

A mounted policeman was sent to block an alley leading to an obscure entrance to the Auditorium last night. A man reached out and dumped the fire from his pipe on the flank of the policeman's horse. As the animal reared, a dozen rushed past and made their way inside.

"If I catch the guy that done that," expounded the policeman, "he'll never hear no more Roosevelt. He'll be down listening to Nero hollering for a drink."

Four thousand automobiles passed political headquarters last night in half an hour. It was part of a procession of curious motorists that began early in the day and lasted until late at night.

Five thousand Chicagoans, men, women and youngsters, stood patiently across Michigan avenue or on the sidewalk before the hotels, just watching, until almost midnight. Chicago has concluded that it's a good show, worth coming to see.

Sidewalk novelty hawkers have their own view of the convention situation. Out of more than thirty counted shouting the buttons and badges and freak devices for partisans around convention headquarters, only four last night had souvenirs to offer. All the rest were crying Teddy hats, and Teddy banners and Teddy tie pins, and Roosevelt paraphernalia generally.

Another thing the old timers are noticing is the scarcity of any real convention songs. There are parodies galore on the popular melodies of the day, but West Virginia's Roosevelt boosters seem to be about the only crowd that came to the meeting drilled in some original tunes. A man in the Congress lobby today claimed to have heard eighteen separate and distinct parodies on "Everybody's Doin' it Now," and said he expected to get as many more versions before the end of the convention. Confidentially this is the song heard most often along Michigan avenue.

Sleuths are today investigating the mysterious fate of a mass meeting that didn't meet last night. Statements were issued to the newspapers yesterday afternoon, beginning: "A mass meeting of Taft supporters will be held this Monday evening at 8 o'clock in Grant park, opposite the Congress hotel. Among the speakers will be Senator Elihu Root, Charles W. Fairbanks, Senator T. E. Burton of Ohio, W. B. McKinley, William Barnes, Jr., and J. W. McDonald."

There wasn't any mass meeting, probably all the "masses" were at the Roosevelt meeting. Nobody said why. Taft's headquarters decline today to remember that there was to have been such a meeting.

Insertion of a good roads plank in the republican national platform was urged upon leaders in all camps today by a committee from the fifth national good roads congress, now in session here. A governmental plan of financing modern highways and paying part of their initial cost is the scheme to which the advocates would pledge the party.

Friends of the festive Blaine club of Cincinnati, and admirer of its bottle back coats, white hats and nice grey trousers, are intensely worried.

The Blaine club marched out of the Great Northern hotel last night in the wake of its band. Thereupon it vanished. Neither white hat, bottle-back coat, nor grey trousers of a clubman appeared at the convention headquarters after that hour.

P. S. (Later)—Blaine club restored to bosom of its friends late this morning.

Six youths of New York breezed into the Congress hotel last night. "We have come with a few jingling coins," said Leigh Hunt, rich young acting chairman of the voluntary delegation, "that say Roosevelt will get there on the first ballot. Taft money wanting to talk should come here.

J. Borden Harriman, John Grier, W. S. Auchincloss, E. C. Wallace and L. E. Waring comprise the squad.

They've prepared a hospital and ambulance squad for the convention.

Dr. George C. Hunt, chief of the Chicago ambulance service, will be in charge of a big force of nurses and doctors at the Coliseum. Official explanation of the grim preparation is that "somebody might get sick."

President Taft will almost be able to hear the band concert with which the convention opens—and while sitting at his desk in the White House. The same private telephone wire that connected Secretary Hilles' room in the Congress to the inner presidential sanctum at Washington, was "cut in" to a room near the convention hall, at the Coliseum today. A trusted employee will keep a string of news going over the wire which will be copied by stenographers for the president's information and when Taft wants to "sit in" on the wire himself, or talk with any of his lieutenants, he can do so.

Three college professors are taking leading parts in the convention, to-wit: President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia, who will second Taft's nomination; Professor Albert Bushnell Hart of the chair of government of Harvard, who is a Roosevelt delegate-at-large from Massachusetts; and Professor William Draper Lewis, who is Roosevelt member of the committee on resolutions from Pennsylvania, and dean of the law school of the University of Pennsylvania.

Alarmed delegates look on it in a different light.

Alice Roosevelt Longworth's missing trunk, the delaying of which has seriously interfered with her convention plans, arrived late yesterday afternoon.

"I'm glad to hear it," said Nick Longworth, earnestly. After its arrival, Mrs. Longworth wore, successively, a white lingerie, a lavender linen with a Dutch collar, a brown Holland and a lace robe over a pink background and a white and black striped flannel suit, women, wives of delegates announced at ten a. m.

A statesmanlike person in a long black coat and baby blue necktie, identified as an alternate somewhere from the south, was supping in a corner of one of the big hotel dining rooms.

Before him was arrayed a cup of coffee, a pat of butter and three slices of toast. On the statesman's lap neatly concealed by the tablecloth was a banana. The tip of another banana protruded from the pocket of the long black coat.

Every time the waiter turned his back, the statesman took a sly bite of the banana, hastily concealing his treasure when the servant came near. Fruit on the bill of fare is fifty cents to seventy-five cents an order. Bananas at Joe Nikodeno's fruit stand are three for a dime. The statesman was dogging the high cost of living.

The "Bolt" is a new drink issued for convention purposes. Recipe: Two parts sherry and one part vermouth. It is said to produce a warlike frame of mind.

Thanks to the extreme care with which the national committee guarded signs for its tickets to the Coliseum in advance of their distribution, there are very few counterfeits being worked off on visitors anxious to gain admittance to the galleries.

Several folks, however, "bit" on a bogus pasteboard which read: "This entitles Mr. Blank to pass the Coliseum building any day during the convention," which some joker handed out.

The highest price so far recorded for seats in the convention hall was $30 for four seats, disposed of by a broker today.

Great Artist Poorly Paid.

The report from New York of the sale of the two famous portraits by Velasquez, the one of Philip IV, and the other of his minister, the Grand Duke Olivarez, brings to light the interesting fact that he received "on account" the sum of eight hundred reales (£8) for these and one of Senor Garciperez. At very much the same time Van Dyck, despite a highly successful time in northern Italy, was finding to his cost that Antwerp, his birthplace, had little liking for his genius. In fact, we find him stating that at one time he had a "certain fat brewer as his only patron." And even that patron failed him, because when it came to a matter of remuneration the brewer's greed shrank from an extortionate payment of two pistoles for the painting of one portrait!—T. P.'s Weekly.

OLD-TIME REMEDY DARKENS THE HAIR

Gives Color, Lustre to Faded and Gray Hair; Dandruff Quickly Removed

For generations Sage and Sulphur have been used for hair and scalp troubles. Almost everyone knows the value of such a combination for keeping the hair a good even color, for curing dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair, and for promoting the growth of the hair. Years ago the only way to get a Hair Tonic of this kind was to make it in the home, which was troublesome and not always satisfactory. Nowadays, almost any up-to-date druggist can supply his patrons with a ready-to-use product, skillfully prepared in perfectly equipped laboratories.

An ideal preparation of this sort is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, in which Sage and Sulphur are combined with other valuable remedies for scalp troubles and thin, weak hair that is losing its color or coming out. After using this remedy for a few days, you will notice the color gradually coming back, your scalp will feel better, the dandruff will soon be gone, and in less than a month's time there will be a wonderful difference in your hair.

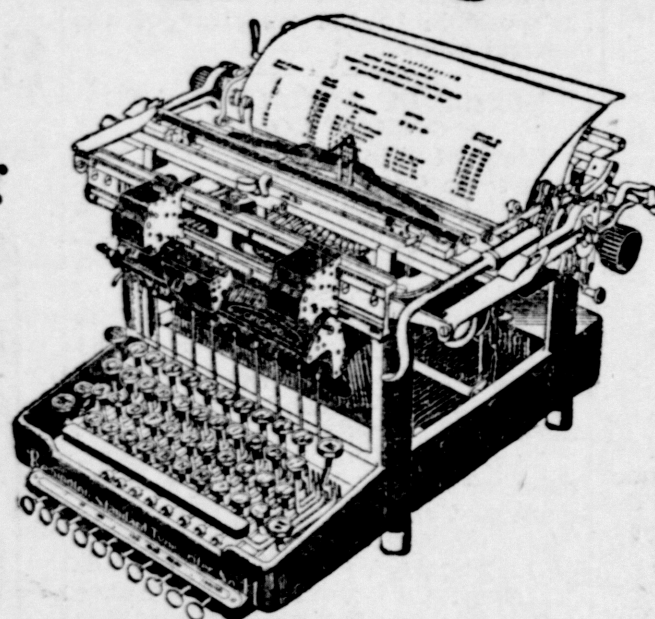

Don't neglect your hair if it is full of dandruff, losing its color or coming out. Get a fifty cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist, and see what a few days' treatment will do for you. All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented. Special Agent, O. T. Erhart, 518 Main street.

Chicago Grain Letter.
CHICAGO, June 19.—Dominating influences in the wheat market today were the impending movement of new wheat in the southwest, easy cables and more favorable weather. Prices suffered somewhat under these influences, although the market did little more than mark time.
Corn prices were fairly steady with yesterday's close, and oats dropped slightly in sympathy with the wheat price movement.
Provisions were strong.

"To Adopt Every Improvement Which May Make the Service Better."

Invented in 1876, the telephone received scant support and encouragement. After much discouragement, the perseverance of a few men (still in the Bell System) established The Bell & Associated Companies and by constant improvement, have gradually made the telephone the implement of not only this, but all nations.

Each year saw improvement in the equipment. Apparatus was and is constantly discarded as obsolete, though still serviceable, the rapid progress of the art and the demands of the public making it necessary to adopt every improvement that would make the service better.

The constant earnest effort of the Bell Companies has been and is to improve equipment and methods and extend the scope of the service in order to develop a system of intercommunication of the highest degree of efficiency.

Suggestions, requests for information or service, will receive prompt and courteous attention.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

President Taft rooted successfully in Washington as well as in Chicago. Seventeen straight victories for "Old Grif" makes him permanent chairman of the come-back club by acclamation.

Bob Groom pitched throughout the game, and won, although Connie Mack put three men in the box in an effort to stop the winning streak.

The Pirates bade a fond adieu to the Giants by trouncing the peerless Matty. All agree that the smoke town crew are coming like a typhoon.

The Braves managed to compile four runs from 14 hits and negotiated a win.

Three White Sox pitchers were pounded by the Browns, giving the basement boys a 4 to 3 victory.

The Tigers cleaned up Cleveland in the first two innings.

Presumably.

First show girl—"Don't you think Mr. Herbert, the composer, has an enormous repertoire?"
Second show girl—"Well, I think he's rather stout, but I wouldn't say that about him."

Chambermaid Music.
"Why do you object to hotel orchestras?"
"Because," replied the musician, "their programs usually sound as if they had been selected to please the bell boys and chambermaids."—Washington Star.

To "CAPITOL" or "WHITEHOUSE"—without a dissenting vote—a million men give their highest approval.

The style is the smart close-front, with plenty of room to show the tie.

"Capitol" and "Whitehouse" give you a big percentage of extra wear. They are reversible—"both sides rightsides."
